CBD Goes To The Next Level

X Factor Nutrition has combined the most potent CBD Isolate with CBG, which is considered the “mother of all cannabinoids” to provide a CBD product with unprecedented impact.

Xtreme Potency + Xtreme Effect

Relief Xtreme combines a 3000 mg dose of the highest potency CBD with CBG. CBG has been dubbed “the Rolls-Royce of cannabinoids” since it is one of the most expensive cannabinoids to produce.

When CBD is combined with CBG, it has been observed to create the “entourage effect,” magnifying the therapeutic effect of each when administered together.

Answers to the Most Common Questions

What is CBD Oil?

CBD, or Cannabidiol, is a naturally-occurring constituent of industrial hemp (cannabis sativa) plants. It is the most abundant non-psychoactive cannabinoid and is being scientifically investigated for numerous reasons.

What is CBG Oil?

CBG, or Cannabigerol, is a common cannabinoid found in cannabis and hemp plants. This powerful cannabinoid is not intoxicating, but does offer a whole host of therapeutic benefits.

Research suggests that CBG can help stimulate the growth of new brain cells, even in elderly patients. It may also stimulate bone growth, relieve pain and reduce inflammation. But that's not all. It has been shown to have anti-tumor and antibacterial properties, help with glaucoma, mediate bladder dysfunction, manage skin conditions. Like CBD, CBG is also showing benefits for stress, anxiety and depression.

CBG starts its life as acidic precursor CBGA. CBGA isn't only the acidic precursor for CBG. It's also the acidic precursor for all the other cannabinoids' acidic forms. CBG's acidic form gives rise to every single cannabinoid in the plant – earning the name “The Mother of Cannabinoids.”

Will Relief Make Me High?

No. The cannabinoid that makes someone “high” is called THC and is found in Marijuana. Relief CBD Oil is derived from Hemp and is certified by a 3rd party to be 100% THC Free.
